

Katie's Post

Katie Levine is with Suzanne Nielsen.

I was cleaning out my wallet, and amongst my non-winning lottery tickets, I found these sweet gems from one of my favorite teachers. (We got them for achievements, good answers, good questions, and, you know, showing up.)(I can't remember in which of her classes I got these. I took many.) Aww! Good memories.

Love it! I strung all mine on the binder I used for Comedy Writing class, <redacted> years ago!

I love Suzanne. I think I still have the little dogs from her classes somewhere, too.

Emilie Peck I do too! Somewhere. Before we moved I used to have him on my desk to remind me of the pack, but right now he might actually still be packed away. (I only moved 3 years ago... 😊😊)

I have a few of the items she gave to me in class. She still enjoys picking on me. 😂

I am incredibly disorganized, and mine got misplaced. They're around here somewhere, but when/if I find them, I have no way of knowing if they're the ones I got from Suzanne, or picked up around the school I work at, or were given by this or that student.

I mean, all of the other ones came my way because of Suzanne, indirectly. It's because of her encouraging us to be involved in MN Reading Corps that I've been working at American Indian Magnet School for the past twelve years. 😊 ok, time for the bead clan to meet up. remember, I pick the beads distributed. Who wants to meet at Day by Day cafe next week? I'm never even on facebook, but here I am. By the way, I saw my mentor, Deborah Keenan, yesterday at a reading in St. Paul. Love her hugs.
